

Ian Wollman

Deloitte

Ian Wollman is a Sr. Manager with 20 years of overall finance management and consulting experience. He is a practitioner in the Deloitte Consulting Finance Management service offering, specializing in shared services and finance transformation. His consulting experience has focused on helping Finance organizations implement shared services, process reengineering, systems, integrated performance management, cost reduction, operating models and organization design efforts. Ian has practical experience in numerous industries, including consumer and industrial products, retail, media, financial services and warehouse distribution. He started his career at General Electric where he garnered hands-on finance and accounting experience, rising to the title of Finance Manager. Ian also spent time as Controller at one of Rockwell Automation's smaller business units. As a consultant, Ian has developed in-depth finance transformation and shared services implementation experience via numerous large global projects. Ian's academic credentials include a Bachelor of Commerce degree from Concordia University of Montreal and an MBA from Case Western Reserve University.